Adams County Dairymen Meet.

About 150 members of the Adams County Dairy Association and creditors of the Pennsylvania Milk Products Company of Harrisburg met in the Court House Wednesday evening, February 20, to prove and file their claims in order to elect trustees in bankruptcy, and also to listen to talks by H. D. Allebaugh, President of the Inter-State Milk Producers' Association; R. H. Olmstead, extension dairy specialist of State College; and W. H. Harper, of the Philadelphia Dairy Council.

After attending to the matter of proving claims and filing these claims through the attorney, J. L. Williams, the meeting was opened by President John C. Bream, who introduced Mr. Allebaugh. Mr. Allebaugh explained in detail how matters had led up to bankruptcy and emphasized that the Inter-State Milk Producers' Association was doing all in its power to help the farmers by keeping in close touch with the situation and trying to maintain a future market for milk in this territory through this Harrisburg Plant.

R. H. Olmstead, extension dairy specialist of State College, told the dairymen that they should be optimistic and begin to plan for the future. He emphasized the importance of eliminating the boarder cow particularly considering the cow as a market for feed produced on the farm. He emphasized the importance of growing more protein feed on the farm and the home mixing of feeds. He stated that Adams County stood with less average milk produced per cow than the average for the State and further stated that we stand 65th in the amount produced per cow in the State as a county.

Mr. Olmstead is in the county conducting a series of dairy feeding meetings in the various sections. These meetings although poorly attended are very worth while and practical for every farmer. Mr. Harper, of the Philadelphia State Dairy Council, told of the work that is being done in advertising the value of milk as a food and explained where the money taken off of the farmers' milk checks was used, and along with three reels of pictures, described the many benefits to be derived from advertising the product and the results accruing from the health work in the schools among groups by movies and various methods from this work.

Growth of a Great Movement.

Consolidated schools are increasing in number; one-room schools are disappearing; and more school money is being spent for transportation of pupils each year. Data on consolidated schools show that 1,628 were formed in the school year 1921-22. Fourteen States did not report the number of consolidations that year. Among the 14 are Ohio, Kansas, North Carolina, and Maryland, known to be making considerable progress in consolidation. The most accurate figures obtainable show that there were 11,800 consolidated schools in the United States in 1920. Estimating an increase of at least 3,000 in the next two years, there were in 1922 approximately 15,000 consolidated schools. Louisiana, Indiana, and Ohio each reports over 1,000 such schools; Texas, Virginia, and Mississippi each more than 600.

There were 187,051 one-room schools reported in 1920. Two years later the estimated number was 179,450, a decrease of 8,501. Most of this decrease is due to consolidation. Some of it is due to a natural growth of small schools into larger two and three-room schools. Replacing approximately 4,000 little schools each year by something better is a considerable achievement.

The amount spent for transportation was $14,514,544 in 1920 with eight States not reporting. For 1922 it was $20,624,805, an increase of more than six millions of dollars, again with no reports from eight States. Iowa, Ohio, and Indiana each spent over two millions in this way; Minnesota, North Dakota, Massachusetts, and New Jersey each more than one million.

Motorists To Help

Make Roads Safe.

Major A. A. Stewart, of New York City, recently formed what is known as the Argus Association, composed of motorists all over the country who are willing to take the pledges of the association as to safe driving. These pledges are:

1. To be always ready for any emergency by keeping my eyes on the road and my thoughts on what I am doing.

2. To particularly watch out for curves, crossings, and bridges.

3. To always keep my car under perfect control.

4. To keep the brakes and steering gear in good working order.

5. Never to stop or slow down without signaling to the driver of the car behind.

6. Never to take a turn without care and warning to drivers of other cars.

7. Never to cut off another car unless I am positive that there is ample room.

8. Never to stop in a narrow place on the road if by doing so I inconvenience the drivers of other cars.

9. Never to start out from the curb without making sure that the road is clear.

10. To consider the safety and comfort of the other car's occupants as well as my own.

11. Never to try to save a minute or two of time if by so doing I am risking the life of a human being.

12. To obey all the rules of the road as laid down by law or common sense.

13. If I do not drive my own car, to require my chauffeur or members of my family to live up to these principles.

14. To be always careful, vigilant, courteous, and thoughtful—a gentleman of the highway.

More than 12,000 motorists are stated to have taken this pledge.

Weekly Health Talk.

Co-operating with the State Department of Health's educational campaign, Dr. Dorothy Child, of Philadelphia, Pa., says:

"Condition of a baby is shown by weight, by state of muscles and long bones, by size of the fontanel (the soft spot at the top of the baby's head), by the condition of the teeth, the color of the skin and mucous membranes, etc. It is easy for the doctor to judge these factors by comparing a child with hundreds of others—but the mother can get most information from weighing, if done regularly.

She should begin at birth, twice a week for the first month (if the baby be frail, weigh every day), then weekly until one year old. During the second year, twice monthly. Weigh at the same hour of the day without clothing, or with the same weight of clothing.

The average full term normal baby, weighing between 6 and 9 pounds at birth, (Dr. Holt's figures: Boys 7.55 lbs., Girls 7.16 lbs.), should gain during the first six months at least 4 ounces a week. Birth weight should be doubled by the 5th or 6th month. At 1 year the weight should be a little over 2½ times the birth weight; the rate and steadiness of gain more important than actual weight at any one time.

Remember: Although gain of weight is a valuable index of the child's condition, too great confidence must not be placed in it. I have often seen normal weight curve in condensed milk babies, whose muscular and bony development were far below requirements. These are the fat, flabby babies, with pale color and low resistance to disease. Bottle fed babies should have medical examination about once a month."

Purnell Bill For Agricultural Research.

Latest reports received in Adams County from Washington, D. C., state that the Purnell Bill, calling for additional funds to support agricultural research study in the state agricultural colleges, has met the approval of the agricultural committee of Congress. It is expected that the bill will be reported out of the committee in the near future and will soon come to a vote.

Because the passage of this bill means so much to the future of agriculture, farmers of the county are showing a keen interest in the progress it is making. By its provisions, Pennsylvania will receive $15,000 the first year to be used in solving farm problems at the experimental station at State College. This fund, according to the bill, will increase $10,000 each year, until each state will receive $85,000 annually for agricultural research purposes.

Farmers Favor Bill

Prominent farmers of the county point out that the experimental work on the station farm at State College, despite a lack of sufficient funds, has returned far more than the total expenditure the Purnell bill would entail. They state that the development of Pennsylvania "44" wheat by C. F. Noll, agronomist at the experiment station, has resulted in an increase in the annual income of the farmers which is greater than the annual expenditure of $4,000,000 called for by the Purnell Bill. It has been estimated by prominent authorities that the development of this wheat has been worth at least $5,000,000 to the State of Pennsylvania.

Agricultural leaders point to the studies on animal feeding conducted in the calorimeter at State College as an evidence of the value of research and experimentation. The feeding standards worked out in this apparatus have meant an immense saving to not only Pennsylvania farmers, but livestock men the world over.

Point to Past Research

Other research findings that have resulted in more economical production are cited by farmers supporting the Purnell Bill. The development of new strains of tomatoes and cabbage, the experiments in disease and insect control which have resulted in a spraying program for potatoes and fruits, the experiments in steer feeding proving the value and economy of feeding silage, they point to in their arguments for more research funds.

Adams County Fruit Growers have derived many benefits from the Penn State research laboratories located at Arundsville. Because of research and recommendations of this laboratory more thorough spraying was done than would have been done had the fruit growers not know of the benefits to be derived by keeping closely in touch with the research work of this department. Fruit growers having heavy investments have realized long since, that in order to insure a profit in the fruit business thorough spraying as the result of recommendations of Frost and Walton have been a big factor. Every fruit grower should have reason to favor the Purnell Bill which provides Federal funds for research work.

One reason for the favorable sentiment the bill is creating among the farmers of the county is because it enlarges the scope of agricultural research to include studies on the economic and marketing problems confronting the farmers. At the present time, they say there is a great need for information along these lines. Problems of farm management, grading, standardization, transportation, storage, marketing of farm crops, and social problems of country life can be investigated under the provisions of the new bill.

Authorities at the Pennsylvania State College state that the funds now received for agricultural research are entirely too small to carry on the research demanded by the farmers of the state.

Hundreds of requests, they say, are coming in each year for research work on problems of production and marketing of farm products. The lack of funds makes possible the solution of only the more important problems.

Estimated Wealth of the State of Pennsylvania.

Washington, D. C., February 18, 1924.—The Department of Commerce announces, for the State of Pennsylvania, its preliminary estimate of the value, December 31, 1922, of the principal forms of wealth, the total amounting to $28,833,745,000, as compared with $16,614,202,000 in 1912, an increase of 68.1 per cent. Per capita values increased from $2,609 to $3,187, or 28.5 per cent.

All classes of property increased in value from 1912 to 1922, except live stock, which decreased from $209,828,600 to $203,524,000, or 3.0 per cent. The estimated value of taxed property and improvements increased from $8,228,266,000 to $13,249,458,000, or 61.9 per cent; exempt real property from $1,320,257,000 to $1,664,665,000, or 26.1 per cent; farm implements and machinery from $74,688,000 to $127,321,000, or 70.5 per cent; manufacturing machinery, tools, and implements from $877,219,000 to $2,103,873,000, or 150.1 per cent; and railroads and their equipment from $1,550,150,000 to $1,927,737,000, or 22.7 per cent. Privately owned transportation and transmission enterprises, other than railroads, increased in value from $2,028,330,000 to $1,401,165,000, or 80.4 per cent; and stocks of goods, vehicles other than motor, furniture, and clothing from $3,059,971,000 to $7,915,866,000, or 159.5 per cent. No comparison is possible for the value of motor vehicles, which was estimated in 1922 at $308,136,000, because no separate estimate was made in 1912.

In making these estimates the Department followed in general the methods employed in making the estimates for 1912, though it is believed that in some respects the work in 1922 has been more thorough. It should be borne in mind that the increases in money value are to a large extent due to the rise in prices which has taken place in recent years, and so far as that is the case they do not represent corresponding increases in the quantity of wealth.

La Follette on Coolidge's Responsibility.

After a brief summary of Secretary Denby's public career, Senator La Follette in the U. S. Senate, said:

"He served, while a member of the House, on the Ballinger committee, and he voted for Ballinger. He knew the latter's record with regard to conservation. Fall's record in the Senate was one of consistent opposition to and contempt for all conservation legislation. Denby knew all this. It will be recalled that Denby in addition to turning over the naval oil reserves to Fall, also turned over to him the naval coal reserves in Alaska. When he did this he knew and must have known that it was Fall's purpose and desire to immediately transfer these reserves to private interests for private exploitation; and they could not be drained.

"So, also, the President must bear his full measure of responsibility. He was aware of the policy of both Denby and Fall in dealing with the naval oil reserves and other public property long before the present investigation called public attention to their conduct.

"When I introduced Senate Resolution 282, authorizing and directing the investigation which the Committee on Public Lands is now conducting into the subject of leases upon naval oil reserves, the Vice-President, now the President, was then in the chair. This was on April 21, 1922. When that resolution was called up for discussion and the whole subject was thoroughly gone into on April 28, 1922, the Vice-President, Mr. Coolidge, now the President, was then in the chair and heard the discussion.

"At the time the resolutions were foreshadowed which have since been publicly made. In the course of my remarks upon the resolution I then said: 'The Ballinger-Pinchot investigation, which broke the back of the Taft administration, did not proceed upon more damning evidence than is at hand bearing upon the leasing of these naval oil reserves.'

"So that President Coolidge, long before he became President, was given notice that the evidence was at hand to show political corruption in the leasing of the naval oil reserves."

S. K. Sowers, of Abbotstown, states that 25 years ago while he was at work repairing the roof of his warehouse, some foreign matter flew into his eye and greatly annoyed him for a short time, then ceased annoying him and for a period of five years he felt no inconvenience from it; but, about 20 years ago, the eye began giving him trouble and periodically since he has suffered very severe pain in his eye. Last week one evening, he was suffering much pain in the head and thought he felt something cutting in his eye. His granddaughter, Msr. Charles Hull, looked at the eye and removed from it a small hard substance. Since, Mr. Sowers has had no pain in the eye.

A Bad Back is Usually Worse During Bad Weather.

Is your back like a barometer? Does it foretell every change of weather? Does every cold settle on your kidneys? Bring aching, throbbing pains? Does it disorder the urine? Have you thought the kidneys may be calling for help? Thousands recommend Doan's Kidney Pills, Gettysburg testimony proves their worth. Ask your neighbor. Mrs. F. M. Gilbert, 26 Breckenridge St., Gettysburg, says: "My kidneys were out of fix when a cold settled in them. My back was weak, which annoyed me and made housework burdensome. It was right across my kidneys that sharp, darting pains caught me when I stooped. It only took a little work to tire my back and very often it became lame and sore. My kidneys weren't in a healthy condition and I wasn't feeling well in any way. I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills through reading so much about them and as my trouble wasn't of a serious nature, it didn't take many of Doan's to drive the pains from my back and rid me of all signs of kidney complaint." 60c. at all dealers. Motorists To Help Make Roads Safe.

Major A. A. Stewart, of New York City, recently formed what is known as the Argus Association, composed of motorists all over the country who are willing to take the pledges of the association as to safe driving. These pledges are:

1. To be always ready for any emergency by keeping my eyes on the road and my thoughts on what I am doing.

2. To particularly watch out for curves, crossings, and bridges.

3. To always keep my car under perfect control.

4. To keep the brakes and steering gear in good working order.

5. Never to stop or slow down without signaling to the driver of the car behind.

6. Never to take a turn without care and warning to drivers of other cars.

7. Never to cut off another car unless I am positive that there is ample room.

8. Never to stop in a narrow place on the road if by doing so I inconvenience the drivers of other cars.

9. Never to start out from the curb without making sure that the road is clear.

10. To consider the safety and comfort of the other car's occupants as well as my own.

11. Never to try to save a minute or two of time if by so doing I am risking the life of a human being.

13. If I do not drive my own car, to require my chauffeur or members of my family to live up to these principles.

More than 12,000 motorists are stated to have taken this pledge.

Weekly Health Talk.

Co-operating with the State Department of Health's educational campaign, Dr. Dorothy Child, of Philadelphia, Pa., says:

"Condition of a baby is shown by weight, by state of muscles and long bones, by size of the fontanel (the soft spot at the top of the baby's head), by the condition of the teeth, the color of the skin and mucous membranes, etc. It is easy for the doctor to judge these factors by comparing a child with hundreds of others—but the mother can get most information from weighing, if done regularly.

She should begin at birth, twice a week for the first month (if the baby be frail, weigh every day), then weekly until one year old. During the second year, twice monthly. Weigh at the same hour of the day without clothing, or with the same weight of clothing.

The average full term normal baby, weighing between 6 and 9 pounds at birth, (Dr. Holt's figures: Boys 7-55 lbs., Girls 7-16 lbs.), should gain during the first six months at least 4 ounces a week. Birth weight should be doubled by the 5th or 6th month. At 1 year the weight should be a little over 2½ times the birth weight; the rate and steadiness of gain more important than actual weight at any one time.

Remember: Although gain of weight is a valuable index of the child's condition, too great confidence must not be placed in it. I have often seen normal weight curve in condensed milk babies, whose muscular and bony development were far below requirements. These are the fat, flabby babies, with pale color and low resistance to disease. Bottle fed babies should have medical examination about once a month."

Purnell Bill For Agricultural Research.

Latest reports received in Adams County from Washington, D. C., state that the Purnell Bill, calling for additional funds to support agricultural research study in the state agricultural colleges, has met the approval of the agricultural committee of Congress. It is expected that the bill will be reported out of the committee in the near future and will soon come to a vote.

Because the passage of this bill means so much to the future of agriculture, farmers of the county are showing a keen interest in the progress it is making. By its provisions, Pennsylvania will receive $15,000 the first year to be used in solving farm problems at the experimental station at State College. This fund, according to the bill, will increase $10,000 each year, until each state will receive $85,000 annually for agricultural research purposes.

Farmers Favor Bill

Prominent farmers of the county point out that the experimental work on the station farm at State College, despite a lack of sufficient funds, has returned far more than the total expenditure the Purnell bill would entail. They state that the development of Pennsylvania "44" wheat by C. F. Noll, agronomist at the experiment station, has resulted in an increase in the annual income of the farmers which is greater than the annual expenditure of $4,000,000 called for by the Purnell Bill. It has been estimated by prominent authorities that the development of this wheat has been worth at least $5,000,000 to the State of Pennsylvania.

Agricultural leaders point to the studies on animal feeding conducted in the calorimeter at State College as an evidence of the value of research and experimentation. The feeding standards worked out in this apparatus have meant an immense saving to not only Pennsylvania farmers, but livestock men the world over.

Point to Past Research

Other research findings that have resulted in more economical production are cited by farmers supporting the Purnell Bill. The development of new strains of tomatoes and cabbage, the experiments in disease and insect control which have resulted in a spraying program for potatoes and fruits, the experiments in steer feeding proving the value and economy of feeding silage, they point to in their arguments for more research funds.

Adams County Fruit Growers have derived many benefits from the Penn State research laboratories located at Arendtsville. Because of research and recommendations of this laboratory more thorough spraying was done than would have been done had the fruit growers not know of the benefits to be derived by keeping closely in touch with the research work of this department. Fruit growers having heavy investments have realized long since, that in order to insure a profit in the fruit business thorough spraying as the result of recommendations of Frost and Walton have been a big factor. Every fruit grower should have reason to favor the Purnell Bill which provides Federal funds for research work.

One reason for the favorable sentiment the bill is creating among the farmers of the county is because it enlarges the scope of agricultural research to include studies on the economic and marketing problems confronting the farmers. At the present time, they say there is a great need for information along these lines. Problems of farm management, grading, standardization, transportation, storage, marketing of farm crops and social problems of country life can be investigated under the provisions of the new bill.

Authorities at the Pennsylvania State College state that the funds now received for agricultural research are entirely too small to carry on the research demanded by the farmers of the state. Hundreds of requests, they say, are coming in each year for research work on problems of production and marketing of farm products. The lack of funds makes possible the solution of only the more important problems.

Estimated Wealth of the State of Pennsylvania.

Washington, D. C., February 18, 1924.—The Department of Commerce announces, for the State of Pennsylvania, its preliminary estimate of the value, December 31, 1922, of the principal forms of wealth, the total amounting to $28,833,745,000, as compared with $16,014,202,000 in 1912, an increase of 80.1 per cent. Per capita values increased from $2,009 to $3,187, or 58.5 per cent.

All classes of property increased in value from 1912 to 1922, except live stock, which decreased from $209,828,000 to $203,524,000, or 3.0 per cent. The estimated value of taxed property and improvements increased from $8,228,266,000 to $13,249,458,000, or 61.9 per cent; exempt real property from $1,320,257,000 to $1,664,665,000, or 26.1 per cent; farm implements and machinery from $74,688,000 to $127,321,000, or 70.5 per cent; manufacturing machinery, tools, and implements from $877,219,000 to $2,193,873,000, or 150.1 per cent; and railroads and their equipment from $1,550,150,000 to $1,902,737,000, or 22.7 per cent. Privately owned transportation and transmission enterprises, other than railroads, increased in value from $702,833,000 to $1,260,165,000, or 80.4 per cent; and stocks of goods, vehicles other than motor, furniture, and clothing from $3,050,961,000 to $7,915,866,000, or 159.5 per cent. No comparison is possible for the value of motor vehicles, which was estimated in 1922 at $308,136,000, because no separate estimate was made in 1912.

In making these estimates the Department followed in general the methods employed in making the estimates for 1912, though it is believed that in some respects the work in 1922 has been more thorough. It should be borne in mind that the increases in money value are to a large extent due to the rise in prices which has taken place in recent years, and so far as that is the case they do not represent corresponding increases in the quantity of wealth.

La Follette on Coolidge's Responsibility.

After a brief summary of Secretary Denby's public career, Senator La Follette in the U. S. Senate, said:

"He served while a member of the House, on the Ballinger committee, and he voted for Ballinger. He knew the latter's record with regard to conservation. Denby knew all this. It will be recalled that Denby in addition to turning over the naval oil reserves to Fall, also turned over to him the naval coal reserves in Alaska. When he did this he knew and must have known that it was Fall's purpose and desire to immediately transfer these reserves to private interests for private exploitation; and they could not be drained.

"So, also, the President must bear his full measure of responsibility. He was aware of the policy of both Denby and Fall in dealing with the naval oil reserves and other public property long before the present investigation called public attention to their conduct.

"When I introduced Senate Resolution 282 authorizing and directing the investigation which the Committee on Public Lands is now conducting into the subject of leases upon naval oil reserves, the Vice-President, now the President, was then in the chair. This was on April 21, 1922. When that resolution was called up for discussion and the whole subject was thoroughly gone into on April 28, 1922, the Vice-President, Mr. Coolidge, now the President, was then in the chair and heard the discussion.

"At the time the resolutions were foreshadowed which have since been publicly made. In the course of my remarks upon the resolution I then said: 'The Ballinger-Pinchot investigation, which broke the back of the Taft administration, did not proceed upon more damning evidence than is at hand bearing upon the leasing of these naval oil reserves.'

PUBLIC SALE. March 13th, 1924, at 10 o'clock, of 14 Head of Young Work Horses, 30 Head of Cattle, 100 Head of Hogs, Sheep, Chickens and Farming Implements. L. R. Valentine, near Ohler's school house, on Emmitsburg-Harney road.

S. K. Sowers, of Abbottstown, states that 25 years ago while he was at work repairing the roof of his warehouse, some foreign matter flew into his eye and greatly annoyed him for a short time, then ceased annoying him and for a period of five years he felt no inconvenience from it; but, about 20 years ago, the eye began giving him trouble and periodically since he has suffered very severe pain in his eye. Last week one evening, he was suffering much pain in the head and thought he felt something cutting in his eye. His granddaughter, Mrs. Charles Hull, looked at the eye and removed from it a small hard substance. Since, Mr. Sowers has had no pain in the eye.

FEEL EVERY CHANGE

OF THE WEATHER?
A Bad Back is Usually Worse During Bad Weather.

Is your back like a barometer? Does it foretell every change of weather? Does every cold settle on your kidneys?

Bring aching, throbbing pains? Does it disorder the urine? Have you thought the kidneys may be calling for help?

Thousands recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Gettysburg testimony proves their worth.

Ask your neighbor.
Mrs. F. M. Gilbert, 26 Breckenridge St., Gettysburg, says: "My kidneys were out of fix when a cold settled in them. My back was weak, which annoyed me and made housework burdensome. It was right across my kidneys that sharp, darting pains caught me when I stooped. It only took a little work to tire my back and very often it became lame and sore. My kidneys weren't in a healthy condition and I wasn't feeling well in any way. I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills through reading so much about them and as my trouble wasn't of a serious nature, it didn't take many of Doan's to drive the pains from my back and rid me of all signs of kidney complaint."

WASHINGTON AND HIS FAVORITE CHARGER

This fine painting shows the Father of Our Country on his favorite horse. It is the well-known painting from which many equestrian statues have been copied.

WASHINGTON'S EXPENSE

Based on the expenses for three months in 1789, Washington figured his year's outlay at about $25,000. When Washington became president he was unwilling to receive any money from the public treasury beyond his actual expenses. At the time his household included a secretary, an assistant secretary, three aids and eighteen servants, while a livery of sixteen horses figured into the yearly cost.

An interpretation of this brief note shows that the band of Colonel Proctor's Fourth Continental artillery apparently took it upon itself to serenade the commander in chief. This old record brings to light that Valley Forge, with all that that name means of privations and suffering, was the setting where was staged what was undoubtedly the first recognition in any public way of Washington's birthday.

French First to Celebrate.
There is still another record of those Revolutionary times which touches us perhaps most poignantly today. To the French is credit due for the first public celebration of Washington's birthday. It was in February, 1781, that Comte de Rochambeau, with true French spirit, declared a holiday for the French troops who were then located in Connecticut. Washington's birthday fell that year on Sunday, so the French general specified that the following Monday be set aside for the celebration of the birthday of his commander, whom he so highly esteemed. It was another of the many evidences of the close ties between France and America which existed in Revolutionary times. It was on that memorable occasion that was first laid the foundation of our national holiday.

WASHINGTON'S 16-BLADED KNIFE

One of the unique relics of American history still extant is the 16-bladed pocket knife which was presented to George Washington by Capt. Samuel De Wees in 1784. The many blades, it will be noted, are arranged to fold into four sixes placed at right angles to each other in the handle. The knife is now the property of George De Wees of Chicago, Ill., a descendant of Captain De Wees.

THE DATE OF WASHINGTON'S BIRTH

OLD records—what stories they can tell. Sometimes full of romance, sometimes startling in their disclosures.

It would seem that Washington's birthday, observed for so many years on February 22, was a celebration founded securely on accurate historical facts. Yet buried in the family Bible of Washington's mother and written in her own handwriting is an entry which makes one pause with surprise. There she has clearly recorded the astounding statement that George Washington was born on February 11.

Certainly no one should know more about this important event than Mrs. Washington.

There it is in black and white in her own handwriting:

George Washington, son to Augustine and Mary, his wife, was born ye 11th of February, 1732, about 10 in the morning, and was baptised the 3d of April following. Mr. Beverley Whiting and Capt. Christopher Brooks, godfathers, and Mrs. Mildred Gregory, godmother.

Family Bibles, especially in those times, were the last word in accuracy, so this statement must be accepted as indisputable.

By the latter part of the Sixteenth century the calendar year had become askew with the astronomical year. It seemed important that a readjustment be made and Pope Gregory XIII. after careful consultation with the learned men of his time, decreed that in 1582 10 days should be dropped and arranged what has since been called the Gregorian calendar. The mandate of the pope was followed that year by Spain, Portugal, Italy and France, but England would have none of it and continued on the basis of the old calendar for another century and a half.

Difference of Eleven Days.
By 1752 in England the discrepancy had mounted up to 11 days, and the disadvantages of two systems of dates was causing great annoyance. It was necessary to date letters going from England or her colonies to France with the days of both systems; for instance, February 11-22. So at last to avoid all this confusion England officially adopted the Gregorian calendar and decreed that 11 days be omitted in the year 1752 between September 3 and September 14.

So for Washington, his birthday in 1733 and all succeeding years fell on February 22.

But there is another record which throws light on what was probably the first public recognition of his birthday. This time the record is in his own handwriting. While commander in chief of the Continental armies, with all his other responsibilities and duties, Washington found time to keep exact records of all his expenses. These expense accounts were several years ago made available by their transfer from the Treasury department to the library of congress where they were placed with the great collection of Washington's papers there.

In one of Washington's daily expense account books there is an entry, under date of February 22, 1778, which reads:

Cash paid the 22nd Inst. to Proctor's band by the G. O.15s.
